Door to Retreat for Hitler's Armies Soon Likely To Be Closed

LONDON, Nov. 26.—(AP)—British military authorities today said they believed the gap between the northern Russian army and the northern army which moved southward across the Don was now about 20 miles.

It seemed probable that 20 German and satellite divisions, or some 300,000 men, were caught in a trap with the door to retreat likely to be slammed shut behind them, these observers said.

The Russians apparently are closing a double set of claws about Stalingrad, the commentator said, one immediately behind the city, the other farther to the west in the Don bend.

C.C.F. Wins By Election Seat in B.C.

SALMON ARM, B.C., Nov. 26.—The Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation candidate, George Sterling, won yesterday's by-election to fill the provincial seat of Salmon Arm, which was conceded by Mayor Cyril Thompson, who ran as a Liberal-Conservative coalition candidate.

This was the first by-election since the provincial general election of 1941, which resulted in the C.C.F. with 15 seats in the 48-member legislature, with 21 Liberals, 15 Conservatives and 1 Labor.

The Liberals, lacking a clear majority over all parties, formed a coalition with the Conservatives, under the leadership of the present premier, Hon. John H. Brown.

With only 9 of the 34 seats to report, Sterling received 1,128 votes to 980 for Mayor Thompson, who ran as a supporter of Premier John Hart, Liberal-Conservative coalition government.

The result of this by-election confirms the stand taken by Hon. Mr. Pattullo, the former leader of the C.C.F. Liberals, that a coalition with the Conservatives would only result in progressive Liberal victory.

The by-election was necessitated by the death of Hon. Lord Bruhn, who died while serving as a Conservative and held the post of public works minister in the coalition cabinet.

Bail is Refused Marc Carriere

MONTREAL, Nov. 26.—(CP)—Mr. Justice F. F. Sullivan today refused bail to Marc Carriere, a 34-year-old man charged with a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—(CP)—The German international information bureau in a broadcast from Berlin today said the Russians and Germans were fighting in the area south of Stalingrad and 80 miles northeast of Smolensk.

CONNINGHAM SAYS: Rout of Luftwaffe in Libya Greatest Defeat of All Time

CAIRO, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Air Vice Marshal Arthur Coningham, R.A.F., commander in the western desert, said today that the rout of the German air force in the Allied drive across Libya was "the most complete defeat of an air force in the field that there has ever been."

Gains of airfields in Libya, he said, have given the British command full control of the sea route from eastern Mediterranean ports to Malta.

Italy's desert air force is almost wiped out, he said, and Germany's is badly strained but still has enough strength enough to fight the Allied forces in the desert, though he said that the desert virtually has disappeared, he said, because the Axis air force has been destroyed.

Discussing the reasons for the German air debacle, Coningham told correspondents, "if they have overthrown force, little opposition and can go ahead like a steamroller, they are in a position to do any real strain, they are not."

AT PRIVY COUNCIL Saskatchewan Attorney General Says Debt Act Within Provincial Rights

LONDON, Nov. 26.—(CP)—Attorney General J. W. Estey of Saskatchewan contended today before the Privy Council that the Alberta Debt Adjustment Act and similar legislation enacted by other prairie provinces came within the constitutional rights of the provinces as defined in the British North America Act.

Appearing as an intervenor supporting Alberta's appeal against the Canadian Supreme Court decision that act is ultra vires of the Alberta legislature, Mr. Estey took the stand after Mr. A. B. Martin, an English barrister representing the Alberta attorney general, wound up his argument.

British Contact Remnants of Rommel Corps

CAIRO, Nov. 26.—(CP)—British troops, driving round the bend of the Gulf of Sirte, caught up with the remnants of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's shattered Afrika Korps yesterday between Agadabia and El Agheila, 70 miles southwest where the Axis troops were expected to make a stand, a British communiqué said today.

The battered Axis armies were racing for the narrow coastal strip of the Gulf of Sirte, but some observers believed they might refuse a battle there and dash instead for the Tripolitanian border, 475 miles beyond.

Today's communiqué, issued jointly by the British Middle East command and the Royal Air Force, gave no details of the fighting between Agadabia and El Agheila.

AIR FORCES ACTIVE It said simply that British troops were "continuing to hold the enemy in that region yesterday."

"There is nothing else to report from the land forces," the announcement said.

British air forces racing ahead of the land forces, the communiqué said, were "continuing to hold the enemy in that region yesterday."

The communiqué said that during the night of Nov. 25, British bombers of the Eighth Army were reported to have bombed the Axis supply lines, still in Axis hands, one of the chief supply routes for the German and Italian forces attempting to hold their narrow beachheads in Tunisia.

250,000 Casualties Suffered by Germans In Soviet Offensive

MOSCOW, Nov. 26.—(BUP)—Russian forces mopped up Axis troops inside the big bend of the Don river today, killing 5,000 more enemy troops and raising the casualty list to more than 250,000 for the six days of their winter offensive.

Front dispatches said the Red army had widened its breach into the river bend and, despite stiffer Axis resistance and frequent German counter-attacks, was continuing its advance uninterrupted in all directions.

Advancing from Suravikovo on the Stalingrad-Rostov railroad, the Russians recaptured several villages, liberating hundreds of prisoners.

The Germans blew up the ice on the Chir river for several miles, attempting to hinder the Russian advance, but the Soviets, moving at night, forced the stream at other points and, outflanking the Germans, landed on the opposite bank.

Have new agency, quoting Stockholm reports, said the Russians also opened a new offensive in the central sector, attacking west of Toropets, about 200 miles north of Moscow. Toropets was the westernmost of the positions the Russians closed between Lake Ili and Moscow last winter. The Russian and Russian division was thrown back in its initial attack.

ADVANCE IN CAUCASUS Front dispatches said the Russians had burst across the northern arm of the Don river bend near Astrakhan, had completely captured the northeast of the Don river bend. The Russians had captured the road station at Rikhow, approximately 65 miles southwest of Stalingrad.

Light Quake Hits Los Angeles Area

PASADENA, Calif., Nov. 26.—(AP)—A light earthquake rattled dishes in parts of Los Angeles county yesterday, but did no material damage. Dr. Charles Richter of California Institute of Technology said the quake was felt in Long Beach and Compton.

In Compton ceilings were cracked.

Normally he would have retired on his 75th birthday, but he proposed to place 36 of the women in the plant on the employment of 37 women in the plant department known as Stock 7.

Earlier tension mounted as the company's reply to the union and labor board proposals was awaited.

Picket lines were strengthened by members of the union—United Automobile Workers of America and C.I.O.—began to pass through the picket lines. Business callers at the company's main offices were refused admission.

French Leaders Will be Handed Over to Nazis

AT THE FRENCH FRONTIER, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Former Premier Paul Reynaud, former minister Georges Mandel, and probably five other former French leaders including Gen. Maurice Gamelin, have been, or are about to be, given into German hands, reliable sources said yesterday.

According to the most authentic information, Reynaud and Mandel, captured since the fall of France, have been transferred from their prison fortress in the Pyrenees to Bordeaux, ostensibly for safekeeping but actually as a step to being handed over to the Nazis.

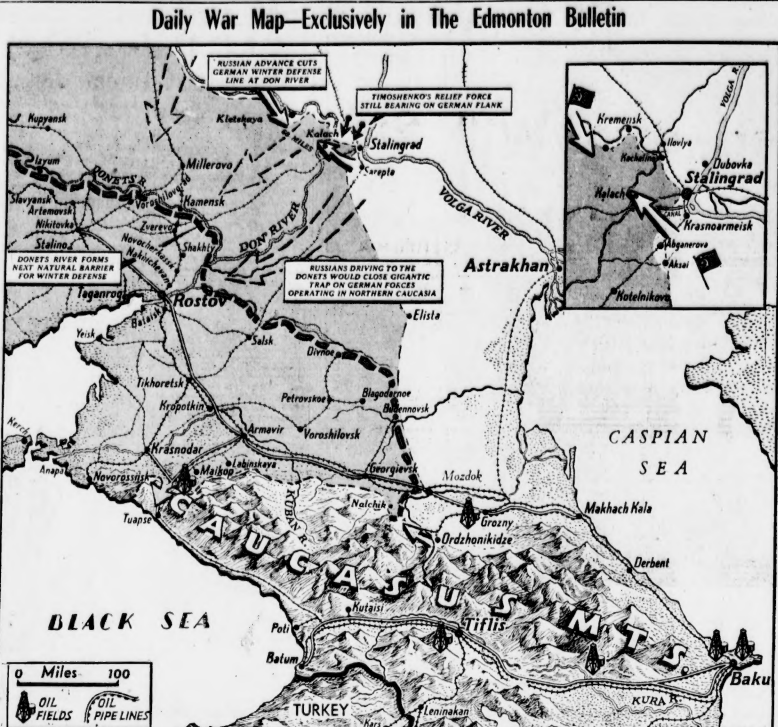

RESULT OF LETTER
This was said to be largely the result of a letter Reynaud wrote to Marshal Henri Petain, protesting the appearance of German troops around his prison. Reynaud told Petain this was objectionable, and that he was taking note of the state of affairs for future action.

With Reynaud and Mandel, according to well-informed French sources, are Gen. Gamelin, former Premier Edouard Daladier, former Premier Leon Blum, Pierre J. Comel, former administrator of the national defense ministry, and former Air Minister Guy La Chambre, the latter moved from internment near Vichy.

The Nazis, these sources said, want Reynaud because in 1940, while still premier, he advocated transferring the government to North Africa to continue resistance, and Mandel because he wanted to organize a government in Africa after the armistice.

LEWIS GUN
A firm of Belgian refugees first manufactured Lewis guns at Birmingham, England, in 1915. The gun was invented by a United States army man of that name.

Brazil Removes Bulge Blackout

RICHIE, Brazil, Nov. 26.—(AP)—The blackout which has been in force in this strategic area, on the easternmost bulge of South America, was suspended yesterday by military authorities—a sequel to the "announcement" that Dakar, some 1,500 miles across the South Atlantic, had thrown in its lot with the Allies. "Previous dangers on this coast have decreased sufficiently to warrant a return to normal conditions," the order said.

Admiral Scorns 'Yellow Monkey' As He Decorates Sailor Heroes

By EUGENE BURNS
SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, Nov. 24.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Honoring United States men for gallantry in action Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., said "Well show them that every one of you is a better man than that little yellow monkey we'll make him wish he'd died before he was born."
Standing on the punctured deck of an American warship, Admiral Halsey presented 17 officers and men with Navy Crosses and 25 men with Silver Stars, four of them posthumously.
Halsey, with tears in his eyes during part of the ceremony, said: "I wish I could present every man with a medal as deserved—some day you'll get such a medal!"

2 Are Charged In Conspiracy To Defraud U.S.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—(AP)—A federal grand jury yesterday indicted Lt. Cmdr. Lloyd V. Scott, assistant resident inspector of aircraft for the 11th naval district, and Edward P. Zap, naval dynamic engineer, on charges of bribery and conspiracy to defraud the United States.
James E. Harrington, chief of the war trade unit of the department of justice here, said preliminary investigation indicated that the government was defrauded of several hundred thousand dollars.
Harrington said Zap was engaged in secret experimental work for the navy—paid upon Scott's authorization. The indictments charge that Zap bribed Scott to approve as pretenses, which are alleged to have been fraudulent.

Parents Surprised When Informed Son Is Winner of D.F.C.

CONSORT, Nov. 26.—(CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Foster Campbell expressed delighted surprise yesterday when informed their son, Scots Ldr. Graham Cox Campbell of the R.A.F., who was taken prisoner last May, had been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.
His parents had no knowledge of the award, announced Tuesday by R.C.A.F. headquarters at Ottawa.
Young Campbell was born at Newcastle, N.S., and attended school here. He learned his flying in a commercial service, getting his license in Calgary. In the fall of 1938 he left for England and joined the R.A.F. His parents were informed he was taken prisoner last May, but no details of his capture were given.

AFFECTS MANY EMPLOYEES

Provincial Government Will Sagger Working Hours

Relief of Overcrowding At Peak Load Periods To Result From Action

These Lads Are Serving Country

Substantial relief of the overcrowded condition on Edmonton's street railway system at peak load hours will result from the provincial government decision to start work in all provincial government offices in Edmonton at 9:30 a.m. instead of 9 a.m. and to quit at 5:30 p.m. instead of 5 p.m.

Serving Country

Announcement of the change of hours was made Thursday in a telephone communication by the Hon. Ernest C. Manning, provincial secretary, and minister of defence and industry, to City Commissioner R. J. Gibb and came as the result of an official made to the provincial government by Mayor John W. Fry that the delay in attendance of provincial government employees be staggered to assist in a solution of the peak-load traffic congestion on the street railway system.

In his application to the provincial government Mayor Fry asked that the hours be staggered so that attendance of the government of employees would start at 8:30 a.m. and finish at 4:30 p.m. The lunch period will be from 12:30 p.m. until 2 p.m.

It is understood that more than 1,000 employees of the provincial government will be affected by the attendance hour change in provincial government offices. The new hours will be adopted as an experiment, and will be in operation throughout the winter months. A revision of the attendance hour may be made during the spring and summer.

A petition is now being circulated through the business offices asking that the hours of attendance be changed from 9 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. and from 5 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. It is claimed the late "quitting time" under the new proposal does not give employees sufficient time in the late afternoon for necessary shopping.

OTHER STAGGERING OF HOURS

planned by the War Time Transport Committee which will be held at a meeting of the body to be held at the Chamber of Commerce on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Co-operation Needed About Leisure Time

Husband, Wife Can't Agree On What To Do On Their Days Off: One Solution Is To Enjoy Their Time Alone.

Dear Miss Dix: My husband and I have been married three years. He is a good provider. We have a nice home, a lovely baby and are quite happy together.

But there is one thing we never can agree about and that is what to do on our days off. He always wants to spend his day at home, and I always want to go out. We are fighting something about the house or in the yard, and I am sure that we will go to somewhere. When I nag him about taking me to do it, I ungraciously take all the pleasure out of it.

He feels that I am silly to make an issue of this and that I should not object to his enjoying his free time playing golf or doing what he wants to.

How can I make him understand that I get fed up with dishes and diapers and cooking three meals a day, seven days a week and want some amusement myself? G. C. Adams: The only thing you can do is to get a domestic dispute to let the husband and wife see each other from their different points of view and they so seldom

Today in the United States people are celebrating Thanksgiving by setting aside a holiday to mark the fact that the harvest days are ending and that the yield of garden and field has been stored away for use during the winter months. It is interesting to know that in all parts of the world, the people who observe the special days have been able to find giving thanks for the bounty of Nature.

The ancient Romans held Thanksgiving feasts in honor of the gods. The Greeks held a festival in November in honor of the goddess of the harvest, Demeter. The Saxons held a feast which they called "Harvest Home."

The principal reason for observing this day was the fact of rejoicing over the fact that the harvest was in. We find this same idea being observed in the first Thanksgiving feast of the Pilgrims.

These early feasts undoubtedly had a deep religious significance and were truly religious celebrations. This original meaning has been lost, either altogether or in part, and our chief way of observing the day seems to be to eat as much as possible.

Even though our Canadian friends have the day of the original meaning of the occasion for thanksgiving and I suggest that this original meaning has been lost, either altogether or in part, and our chief way of observing the day seems to be to eat as much as possible.

Library Board Fetes Staff At Annual Christmas Dinner

The annual Christmas dinner given by members of the Edmonton public library staff was held, Wednesday evening, in the lounge room of the Macdonald hotel.

His Worship Mayor John W. Fry complimented the board and staff on the service that the library is performing to the community, especially mentioning inauguration of the street car branch last year.

SPLENDID PUBLICITY
This "travelling" library has given Edmonton splendid publicity and the city known all over the continent, the mayor said, as well as girl's service to outlying districts.

Speaking in behalf of the board, S. Y. Cairns, C.E. chairman of the property and management committee, expressed appreciation for the first class efficient service rendered by the staff. He also paid tribute to those who founded and pioneered Edmonton's library.

"The work done by each department is little short of marvelous," Mr. Cairns declared.

Miss Ada Anderson, head of the reference department, spoke about her work in the "intelligence bureau" of the library. She mentioned information given by staff members to visitors in the city, and said in reply to a question that she was successful in the reference department, a person must be "one-third detective, one-third bloodhound, and one-third mind-reader."

Special thanks were offered to Hugh C. Gourlay, librarian, and Miss Annie Cameron, girls' club catalogue, by the chairman of the board, A. O. Pilon.

Other members of the library board are: Mr. Cairns, William Weaver, Alderman A. Bisset, S. C. Greer, and Mrs. Joseph Clarke. Miss Patterson, immediate past chairman, presided at the dinner.

Miss Mary Galt presented several verses, accompanied by Miss Evelyn Baker, both of whom are members of the staff.

The Edge of Darkness

BY WILLIAM WOODS

THE STORY. All Norway is preparing for revolt against its Nazi conquerors. So Major Karl Fischer, a German, is taken to a secret growing agent. Meanwhile Karl Fischer, a German, is taken to a secret growing agent. Meanwhile Karl Fischer, a German, is taken to a secret growing agent.

Corporal Paul Herrmann, middle-aged, and with a plump belly, was pulling on his long winter underwear before going to bed. It was going to be a chilly night and he was not willing to catch his death at three in the morning. Karl Fischer stood at the window of their small bedroom, looking down into town.

"There was something about the beauty of what he saw that reminded him of Göttingen. The moonlight over road and forest, village and sea, not only added, throwing a shining veil, light, half shadow, but it made the whole clear autumn landscape glow as if with a self-contained brightness, as if the inanimate trees and streets might at any moment come alive."

"And all this could be ours," he said suddenly aloud. The corporal lowered his eyes and did not answer. Karl turned away from the window and began putting up, and down bands behind his back. "Paul," he said after a while, "sometimes I can hardly understand you, you talk . . ."

Hold Everything

"Yes, I talk," said the corporal. "I know, and you're a young boy with your ears wet." He scratched his sandy hair and crawled into bed. "Okay, Cupid! You've had your fun—now go and get your rifle!"

"Hold Everything"

"Okay, Cupid! You've had your fun—now go and get your rifle!"

"Laff-A-Day"

"He'll probably be sore at us. He hasn't got a very good sense of humor!"

"They are beginning to whisper about you. You're not good sense. Let them whisper," said the corporal. "I know what I know. I and I know what I talk too. He said up, and the blankets around him. 'Do you think I was born yesterday? Thirty years ago I dug the good Bavarian earth before any of you were born. Cows and chickens, I have fought in the last war, and lived through the hunger. Got married and had a son. I have seen the good German all of us. And now you tell me I talk too. Let them whisper. What they please. What they please,' he repeated, and plumped a pillow. 'I don't give that.' He held out a little finger. 'Not that.'"

"Paul!" Karl went quickly over to the bed. "We are friends," he whispered. "I understand. Believe me. I do. But still you must not talk that way. These are dangerous times. The corporal grunted and turned toward the wall. Karl stood up, placing hurriedly over toward the door. He started when he heard the corporal say in a low voice, "I want to hurry again and have another child before I am too old."

For a moment he was still. Then he heard the muffled tread of boots marching up from the road. The corporal, by the strokes of a thousand clocks, the silent guard was there. In the half darkness, Karl lifted his head. "I may be young," he said slowly, "but I too remember how they started and hated us. Now so I am a little sorry. If they who are now afraid." He turned back and went in the window. Into his mind kept coming the picture of two girls standing with their hands behind their backs, in a blue sash door.

CHAPTER VIII

At nightfall, Knut Osterholm went down to the well-lit cellar of his farm, blacked out the narrow windows near the ceiling with tarpaper, and stationed two of his hired boys where he could trust at the door. Some time after eleven o'clock, fourteen men and two women crept by various paths from the village and the hills, and one by one slid out of the darkness into the dimly-lighted room.

In the center of a long table stood one lone lamp. Along the stone walls were unfinished wooden benches. Sverre Hammer, the man from Stokstad, his head bowed in his hands, his head bowed in his hands, his head bowed in his hands. He was looking at the table, his head bowed in his hands. He was looking at the table, his head bowed in his hands. He was looking at the table, his head bowed in his hands.

"What happened to them?" asked the pastor. His high, boyish voice quavered. "Some of them were shot," Hammer said coldly. "Some got away."

"Go on," cried Knut. The men around the table were white-lipped, leaning tense forward. All that Hammer said they could see in terms of their own wives and children. The lamp on the table flickered in a draft. "We fought until dark," Hammer said slowly, "and held them off. We moved up the hill on our flank, and had the machine gun in a fine spot, with the whole town lying down in front of us. About that time, one of the women I suppose she thought it was dark enough . . . came up from under the door and started crawling toward us. We kept watching her. But they saw her and let go with a burst of fire. She got up and began to run, but she didn't get ten steps before they caught her. Her husband broke out from behind our barricade and ran out to help her, screaming at them to leave her alone, and crying, 'I'm coming. Anna, I'm coming.'"

The words trailed off. The pastor buried his face in his hands. When Hammer started talking again he sounded very tired. "About nine o'clock," he said, "there hadn't been any more troops yet, and their firing stopped. We sat back and began to talk over it. We could make the boys in the dark . . . there had to be a way out. It was about five minutes, and then we heard planes overhead. We doused our lights. They sent down a flare and dived. We could not hear a sound over the howling of the motors. It was like a hundred wolves set loose. All of a sudden houses started bursting into flame. First one, then another. The whole town was yellow. Then their mortar started firing again, and its first shot smashed our machine gun and killed everyone within ten paces of it. We broke, whoever was left, and they came at us from two sides. Somehow I got down to the wharf. I had to keep my arm in front of my eyes. The flames were so bright. All I did smell was powder, salt water and burning wood. The walls falling all around me. Even the trees were on fire."

Suddenly he stopped. Not a man breathed. "What happened? Where are the women?" "I don't know." "What did they do to those they caught?" "I don't know." "What if we fought too, and no one followed us? What if every town in Norway . . ."

Canadians Win Decorations in Battles at Sea

OTTAWA, Nov. 26.—(CP)—Gallant and skilful work by Canadian war vessels in the sinking of two enemy submarines and an attempt to salvage a torpedoed merchant ship was recognized officially today through the award of 26 decorations.

The men were honored for four different ships and two of them lost their lives. In announcing the awards, Navy Minister MacDonald gave no details of the actions and did not indicate whether the 15000-ton ships had been previously announced.

FOUR-HOUR HUNT

The destroyer Slocum and corvette Watawika teamed up to put on a four-hour hunt in the North Atlantic. The Slocum, which was "depth charge patterned," was dropped, and the corvette brought decorations to six of the Watawika's crew and 10 to the Slocum's.

The other submarine was one of two sighted on the surface by the destroyer St. Croix. The St. Croix chased it for two hours before the kill—at least part of the time at maximum speed—and eight of the Slocum's officers and men were decorated.

Two posthumous mentions in dispatches went to Lieut. James M. Waisley of Montreal and Able Seaman Leslie Horne of Winnipeg, who both died during the hunt. Horne was killed in an attempt to salvage a torpedoed merchant ship and its cargo. They were serving aboard the corvette Nanamoo.

Today's awards brought to 153 the total number of decorations for Canadian war men since the war began. In all, five Distinguished Service Medals, and 17 Mentions in Dispatches were awarded.

Many Captives Shot Italians Inflict Great Cruelties On British Prisoners at Bengasi

By HENRY T. GORRELL

BENGASI, Nov. 26.—(UPI)—Emaciated British and South African officers and men who had been prisoners of the Axis until the enemy abandoned Bengasi yesterday today that they had suffered at the hands of the Italians and asserted that some captives had been shot merely for making the V for Victory sign.

Although the cruelties and violations of international law committed by the Italians seemed unbelievable, the vast majority of the liberated prisoners told the same story.

Some of the men had been taken prisoner when the Axis captured Tripoli last summer, and others were captured in the early stages of the current British offensive on the El Alamein front.

The Italians were said to have tied prisoners by their wrists to telegraph poles for hours at a time, and that they had been beaten for hours by the Italian soldiers.
